

from "As We Know" : Amaranth Borsuk & Andy Fitch

JUNE

Mention Yellow light all around . For the first time this year . As I meditate cappuccino maker and nails on parquet floors spaced into a white cloud.
At 1:17 bright blue sky
after washing
my full cup of tea
I'd started checking weather for tomorrow 's trip.
I interrupted
the hall
because of heat. switching elevators to leave
The Little Place
listened to a girl cry on her phone . I felt bad taking advice:
an old friend
helped I would have just settled for what I tried first. I have to explain because I found
three thinks While I had no place to touch someone
had left a tattoo
gross (true).
soon it was late and I had packing to do.

15

I waited in the cereal aisle
for tomorrow
and ultimately went to work. (Figure out a transition here.)
There is just enough room for me to do that.
when
in Berlin
everything's mostly psychotic these people are trying to get money from me still tomorrow only items left to pack are contact lenses Vitamin C pills. check
my phone or suspend the line. Still haven't figured out

JUNE

someone is going.

I'll squeeze

beneath the couch. There's just enough room for us:

I'm about to do something drastic

I step out on the stairs.

I hear

people on Murray with

books

the Stress

of an Amorous Woman.

brown pine needles.

just a few

I notice

discarded facemasks and poker chips at

Church and Murray.

As a hot dog guy

passes I smell

plastic bag

at the circulation desk I felt an unusual hunger

without limits. Now dirty, gauzy cool front blowing in from

Jersey.

I'm always amazed

I find

things

For example, baking soda

Ukiyo-e tattoos

I don't think I've

ever

complimented anyone on one.

But before I could he stepped out

16

in what I'm sure are
security envelopes
the summer headache
lights
freak red and green one stray tube sock on a flowerbed
It's actually quite lovely called Peach Symphony.
And some Elysium,
good to come upon.
brushing through a lot of these plants do have pretty gaudy signs attached to them sort of like different individual children
interacting
a sawed-log playground
for kittens. everyone
eats fried chicken,
A greyish pigeon pecks a white pigeon's back.
I've never seen before People fan themselves with flyers. hard to see altitudes higher than five stories.
I'm always amazed people actually spend time in McDonald's.
The scale from the fruit stand sways
I think I'll end with that.